WELCOME TO FOUR OAKS 2023

One in six exhibitors at the 51st Four Oaks Trade Show didn't exhibit last year and lots are debuting – so there'll be plenty to see that's new. Check out the A-Z entries in this catalogue, the many news features on www.fouroaks-tradeshow.com and follow us on social media: LinkedIn, Twitter & Instagram (@fots2023 #fots2023).

Over 100 entries have been submitted to the New Plant & Product Awards, sponsored by HortWeek, which this year will include a visitor's vote on-site – come to the display in House T and decide what looks, feels and smells the best to you. In this catalogue, a NEW feature for 2023 on Page 50 provides a preview of the entries received in time for publication. There'll be even more by September, making a visit essential.

Displays spread across 600+ stands will create a vibrant showcase of all types of plants, innovative products, services and cutting-edge equipment from around the world. Add to all this, a top-class, free-to-attend conference programme and it really is difficult to imagine a more productive day than one spent visiting the Four Oaks Nursery site in Cheshire on 5-6 September.

We welcome a diverse mix of professionals from every section of horticulture, at different stages in their careers, to generate the unique buzzing Four Oaks atmosphere. The opportunities to source, network, learn about the latest trends and innovations in the sector, and advance personal knowledge and expertise are unrivalled.

In the words of one of our exhibitors, the "Four Oaks Trade Show is an immersive experience that ignites our passion for horticulture. Engaging with like-minded individuals who share our enthusiasm for the industry invigorates our team and inspires us to push the boundaries of what's possible."

10.00am Transitioning to peat-free

Technical seminar - Sean Whitworth & Jack Haslam (Fargro)

Fargro will discuss how they are using their unique position within the industry to work with growers, media manufacturers, innovative producers of novel additives and ingredients, and key industry bodies like the RHS and growing associations to ensure that the transition to peat-free growing in UK horticulture is as seamless as possible. They will provide information on some exciting products that will be vital components for future growing in peat-free, sharing their findings from work with growers and the RHS, to explain how you can best use them on your nursery to grow a high-quality crop that is both sustainable and cost-effective.

NEW — PLANTS — & PRODUCTS

Welcome to this feature in the Exhibition Guide – new for 2023. It’s designed to highlight the plant introductions and new products being launched at the 51st Four Oaks Trade Show. The things that make your visit essential and you really don’t want to miss.

As the following pages show, there’s a huge amount of high-quality creativity in the sector, from plant breeding to the development of products and innovations designed to aid efficiency and sustainability both for you and your customers.

In 2023, we extended the categories with extra opportunities for new plant varieties to be awarded and a new ‘Sustainability Impact’ award to reflect the desire amongst visitors to use this as criteria to source.

You can see most of the entrants to the awards in this feature, evidencing the innovation that will be on display at the show this year – but there will be additional entries by time the judging deadline ends in August – so you really have to visit!

Please note that the New plants and products display will be located in the Educate, Collaborate & Innovate zone which is in House T this year, alongside the technical seminars & expert panels plus the association stands.

HortWeek will be running a visitors vote on-site for the first time – so you’ll be able to have your say as to what is the very best at #fots2023.
